

Marketing Intelligence for the CMO

SERVICES OVERVIEW

Omniture is extending its industry-leading integrated online campaign measurement capabilities to deliver plug-and-play executive dashboard frameworks that consolidate critical marketing campaign metrics and provide comprehensive insight into their impact on business performance.

BUSINESS CHALLENGES

With the dramatic growth of digital marketing, traditional marketing performance measurement approaches are no longer sufficient. To be successful, marketing executives need dynamic, real-time and highly customizable dashboards that can automatically collect and report on marketing performance data from multiple online and offline channels.

THE SOLUTION

Omniture CMO Dashboards, offered through Omniture Consulting, provide the ability to measure performance at every stage of the marketing funnel through integrations with the Omniture Online Marketing Suite and collaboration with an extensive agency and technology partner ecosystem. With CMO Dashboards, marketing executives gain the industry's most comprehensive view of cross-channel campaign metrics and performance, with features that:

- » Measure and monitor emerging channels such as mobile, video and social media
- » Make information readily accessible to other C-level executives within the organization
- » Provide closed-loop measurement that goes beyond measuring activity to demonstrating revenue and brand impact across channels

BENEFITS

- » Executive Insights
Gives C-level executives an integrated view of key marketing campaign metrics and their impact on business performance.
- » Multichannel Visibility
Extends measurement beyond response rates to measure response values and brand impact across online and offline marketing channels.
- » Rapid Deployment
Quickly deploy dashboards using prebuilt integrations as reporting needs change.
- » Customize Presentation
Easily brand and enhance dashboards using a growing catalog of available components.

FORRESTER

“Marketers have traditionally been slow to prove the value of their marketing investments and provide data and measurement to support their budgets. To avoid that going forward, marketers need to refocus on marketing measurement and start planning a dashboard that will help them show the value of marketing and use their budgets more efficiently.”
